Paula – no.

epa has not suggested the MPCA wait to submit its list of impaired wild rice waters.

attached is a letter from april 2014, which is our only correspondence with MPCA on this subject. barbara

Barbara:

Let me clarify my question: Has EPA suggested at any point that Minnesota's listing of wild rice impaired waters should wait until rulemaking has been done on designating wild rice waters? If so, it would helpful to have a copy of any document from EPA recommending this delay in proceeding with impaired waters listing.

Best regards,

Paula Maccabee, Esq.
